A Safety Message for the Upcoming Storm

The National Weather Service is predicting stormy weather beginning late Thursday into Friday and then again late Saturday into Sunday. What that means to Calaveras County is the amount of rain is not expected to be significant, however there could be wind and wind damage from these storms.

If you are out and about in the burn area where there are still dead trees standing or areas with bug kill trees, remember these damaged trees are more susceptible to wind toppling or damage.

BE AWARE, STAY SAFE
